Professor Joshua Lederberg
Stanford University
Medical Center
Palo Alto, California

Dear Professor Lederberg:

Coming back to our discussion in San Fransisco and our earlier correspondence I wonder whether it would suit you if I came to Stanford for a period of one week some time in the middle of February, for instance February 13-18. In such case I could combine the trip with a Washington-visit in the latter part of February.

We have just started measurements on bacteria and I have secured the means for a man to work half time on that project from a research council here. I think it would be better if we had the discussion we spoke about last summer now, when the measurements are beginning rather than later on and this is the reason for this letter. If the time should not suit you please do not hesitate to say so.

Very sincerely yours
